Dear Douglas,

As a past attendee of our Luxury conference, I wanted to rush you information of this year's event and tell you about your exclusive past delegate rate.

Hosted by Suzy Menkes, the International Herald Tribune's Fashion Editor, the IHT Luxury Conference will take place this year in Singapore on November 21-22.

The countries of South East Asia are enjoying robust economic growth – buoyed by greater international investment, increased trade with China and growth in consumer spending fuelled by a rising middle class. The region represents the next big thing for luxury brands and, with Singapore developing its credentials as a regional fashion and retail hub, it is the ideal place to host the 13th IHT Luxury conference.

Don't miss your opportunity to meet, see and network with international speakers and delegates at the highest level, for two days of inspiration, learning and business-building.
