Malaysia, the cultural melting pot of Southeast Asia, has long been renowned for its natural beauty. But now man is catching up with nature – dreams of luxurious holidays amidst these marvels have now come fully into fruition. Here, lavish hotels lie on untouched islands and great cities rise out of the swathes of verdant rainforest. And of these, none is shining so bright as Kuala Lumpur – a city as breathtaking as the natural wonders surrounding it. The cultural and economic center of the country, Kuala Lumpur has become a hive of activity over the last two decades and is quickly emerging as an international metropolis in its own right. The city lies almost equidistant between Thailand, the Philippines and Singapore and draws these different cultural strains together. Add to this the city’s proud islamic heritage, shown throughout the Bangsar District by Neo Moorish architecture, and you have a truly diverse and dynamic city right at the heart of the Southeast Asian world.

THE PETRONAS TWIN TOWERS
The city itself has four major districts that are particularly noteworthy for the Elite Traveler. Firstly, Jalan Ampang signals Kuala Lumpur’s modernistic intent with a rising mass of skyscrapers, and glass and steel-fronted buildings. The area is home to Kuala Lumpur’s Golden Triangle, so named because it is the central hub for business in the city. Here the Petronas Towers loom large over all, an iconic and symbolic testament to Kuala Lumpur’s vision of modernity. This pet project of ex-prime minister Mahathir Mohammed is a self-contained mini-city of hotels and flagship HQs, and is the showpiece of the Kuala Lumpur City Center development (KLCC).

BANGSAR DISTRICT
Large scale renovation and rejuvenation over the years have created Kuala Lumpur’s now world famous skyline, where luxury boutiques and five-star hotels vie for space with colonial buildings and traditional Malay markets. Kuala Lumpur, also known as KL, firmly embraces a modern vision – so much so that it’s hard to imagine that this glittering city was just a region of tin mines only 160 years ago – yet its rich heritage has never been forgotten. Elsewhere of note within this vast city is the Bangsar district – a chic parade of restaurants, boutiques and galleries, including both Valentine Willie Fine Art and Space KL (see page 20). Take a trip to Changkat Bukit Bitang, for feats of innovative culinary offerings from award winning restaurants such as Frangipani (see page 13). Finally, Jalan Bukit Bitang is a roll call of restaurants, ritzy boutiques and five-star hotels, including the enormous Pavilion Mall.

Elite Traveler’s Guide to Kuala Lumpur offers a perfect gateway to the contemporary marvels and historic charm of this wonderful city.

Home to the Langkawi archipelago – 99 islands marooned in azure waters and banded by brilliant white beaches teaming with a wealth of marine life – Malaysia boasts a stunning array of things to do for the nautically minded Elite Traveler. And with the rise in superyacht charter in the area there has never been an better time to take the helm of your own luxury yacht and explore some of the most stunningly beautiful and untouched islands on earth. The breathtaking island of Paulau Langkawi has emerged as the hub of the sailing and chartering world in Malaysia, in part due to the recent construction of state-of-the-art marinas around the bays, such as the impressive Telegar Harbor. Similarly, the Langkawi Regatta, which takes place every January, brings sailing enthusiasts in their hundreds and its notoriety is steadily growing.

A myriad of high-end international chartering companies are active in the area, most notably Freedom Yacht Charter and Ocean Independence. The majority of the yachts available are renovated traditional Malaysian shipping vessels, lovingly and expertly restored and fully equipped with the same attention to detail and luxurious modernity one would expect from a high-end hotel.

Every vessel is designed to give each and every guest the experience of a lifetime on board. The luxury charters have a highly trained, fully dedicated captain and crew on board, so you just sit back and relax.

<td>Situated amid the leafy surroundings of Kuala Lumpur’s Lake Gardens, the Islamic Arts Museum is home to the largest collection of Islamic art in the whole of Southeast Asia. The museum holds a staggering collection of more than 7,000 artifacts, culled from all four corners of the world, as well as an exceptional library of Islamic-art books. Art displays range from the tiniest pieces of jewelry to one of the world’s largest scale models of the Masjid al-Haram in Mecca. The aim of the museum is to create a collection that is truly representative of the Islamic world.</td>

| Located approximately 11 kilometers (7 miles) north of Kuala Lumpur, the Batu Caves are one of the most important Hindu shrines outside of India. Graced by a 140 foot (42 meters) high golden statue of Lord Muragan at the entrance steps, this 100- year- old temple, which is incorporated into an ancient limestone cave system, is one of Kuala Lumpur’s most frequented tourist attractions. It is the focal point of the Hindu festival of Thaipusam which takes place here every January, drawing pilgrims in their thousands. Ask your concierge to arrange a private tour. |

| Rising out from above the rainforest canopy is the Menara Tower, the fifth tallest telecommunication tower in the world. But this is more than just a telecoms landmark; the Menara offers a unique mix of experiences not found anywhere else in the Kuala Lumpur. For the thrill seekers there is an opportunity for base jumping – the Menara is host to the largest urban base jump event in the world - or if that seems a little too extreme, why not experience the best views of the Kuala Lumpur skyline from the observation deck or take a forest walk starting at the foot of the Menara tower. |
Beyond the bright lights of Kuala Lumpur there lies a wealth of unrivalled natural wonders. On the Malaysian mainland and the Langkawi Archipelago you’ll find abundant rainforests teaming with wildlife, and beautiful beaches lapped by crystal blue seas. But if you’re feeling a little more adventurous, why not visit some of the more remote wonders of Eastern Malaysia such as the breathtaking islands of Sipadan and Borneo. Here is our guide to these legendary locations.

One of the most famous diving sites in the world, Sipadan Island is Malaysia’s remotest outpost, home to a rich array of marine life. It is tiny, but rises 700 meters from the sea floor, attracting countless species like hammerhead sharks, giant turtles and swarms of barracuda. So wonderful is the diving experience here that Jacques Cousteau once claimed it to be an “untouched work of art”.

Borneo is famous the world over for its precious ecosystems, rare wildlife and natural wonders. The landscape is veined by rivers wending their way through some of the oldest rainforests on earth, housing species that can’t be seen anywhere else. There is such a wide variety of things to see and do in Borneo, from trekking up through jungles and scaling volcanoes, to taking a closer look at some of the captivating island wildlife.
What to do during the night

When night draws in on Kuala Lumpur the city comes alive. With so many places in which to see and be seen, this vast vibrant city offers much for the elite traveler to indulge in. Whether you want to take in a show or just hang out with the local glitterati, our guide will help you pick the best places to while away the evening hours.

Among the top ten most sophisticated theaters in the world, Istana Budaya (meaning ‘Palace of Culture’) is proud to be the first theater in Asia equipped with cutting-edge stage equipment that is on par with the Royal Albert Hall in London. The main building takes the form of the ‘sirih junjung’, a traditional arrangement of betel leaves used in at Malay weddings and welcoming ceremonies. The interior of the Istana Budaya is built from Langkawi marble and decorated with tropical wooden doors, which feature hand-carved flower and leaf motifs. In short, this place is a work of art in and of itself. VIP boxes are available.

NEED TO KNOW ➤ MARINAS

The gorgeous island of Paulau Langkawi, located north-west of Kuala Lumpur, boasts one of only two marinas in the whole of Malaysia that are capable of berthing superyachts (the other can be found on the secluded private island of Rebak). But don’t let the lack of moorings put you off. Both of these marinas are within easy reach via a direct flight from Kuala Lumpur, and, what’s more, with the jewel-like islands of the South Asian Seas tantalizingly within your reach, there is no better excuse to explore these untouched natural wonders.

A stone’s throw away from the Langkawi airport, Telega Harbor is Malaysia’s answer to St Tropez. Built to encourage Langkawi as a major sailing destination, the harbor is capable of berthing 160 yachts and can cater for all travelers’ needs. The Perdana Quay boats some high-end restaurants – where patrons relax at the quayside enjoying alfresco dining amidst luxury superyachts – surrounded by picturesque mountains.

REBAK MARINA

Their fleet of luxury Jets includes:
- the Hawker 700
- the Westwind Gulfsteam
- the Cessna Citation 500
WHEN BEST TO GO
With its tropical climate, Kuala Lumpur is hot and humid all year round and can be visited at any time. The average temperature remains between 22°C and 33°C throughout the year, with a monsoon season occurring in the winter months.

LOCAL CUSTOMS
Whilst traveling in Malaysia, whenever you meet with an older person or a woman, you should greet them with a slight bow. Malays are fairly reserved and do not appreciate displays of affection in public places.

ATTIRE
In spite of the onset of globalization and the growing influence of western modes and style, traditional Malays prefer to participate in social and cultural occasions in their native costume. Remember to dress with due respect to the county’s Islamic culture.

LANGUAGE
Malay, English is widely spoken.
